Pre-Ramble

The Ram Folk Club has run most Fridays (give or take the odd Christmas, Good Fridays and Augusts) since October 1983. This updated archive celebrates our 30 years of our existence as an epicentre of Folk and Acoustic music.

None of us remember much of the very early days, but gradually more bits and pieces have come to light. When we originally put together this archive for our 20th birthday we were a bit stuck! Like the Dead Sea Scrolls, the ancient papyrus of the early gospels and pronouncements of who did what when got lost somewhere along the way. Typewriters of the day did not have memories, less so the scribes. And then - that flash of inspiration! We remembered that we have always advertised in Folk London. Sheila Finn, the editor at the time, very kindly went through all the back issues to tell us who our guests had been, and we are eternally grateful for her efforts. Updating the last ten years has been easy, thanks to computers and our webmaster and IT expert Neil Poole. Now it's all safely stored for future folkeologists to marvel at, and beamed to all corners of the earth and beyond. We have moved with the times too, and we now spread our missives via FaceBook, Twitter and our YouTube channel. We do have one foot in the past though, as we still use snail mail. You cannot escape!

The club was started at the Greyhound pub in Weston Green in October 1983 by Brian and Jane Ravenhill, and continued for many successful years under their stewardship (with help from others), moving briefly to Weybridge before finding its home of over 20 years at the Foley Arms in 1987. That's where we became the Ram Club, as Bob Wood explains elsewhere. What nights we had in that shed, crammed in like kippers in a smoke house (and it was a smoke house too, before the ban). Some nights it was so full you couldn't move or breathe, and it's a wonder there was room for the act. And then in late 2008 we had to go, butted out in the name of progress, as there was no room for us in the new inn planned by Youngs Brewery. So began a frantic search for a new home! Fortunately we found our present home, the Old Cranleighan Club, fairly soon (with a little help from our friends) and we've been very happy here since January 2009.

The club is now run by Bob and Maggie Wood with help from a small but enthusiastic herd of regulars. We don't have a committee, it just 'happens'. If you would like to help, just let us know. We have a loyal and evolving clientele (you) and, we like to think, a great atmosphere. We hope you agree it's amazing to see the sheer variety of guests who have been to the club, many of whom are still going and quite a few who got lost along the way or have sadly left us.

Meanwhile we look forward as ever to many more 'unforgettable' nights to come.

Thank you for your support. Keep coming!

Steve Poole, on behalf of all the Ram crew

In a Nutshell: 30 years of the Ram Club by Bob Wood

Nigh impossible, I fear, to conflate to a few scribbled lines a full 30 years' worth of club memories. A Reduced Shakespeare Co. version, however, is that Maggie and I actually missed the opening night in October 1983 of what is now the Ram Club.¹

Our very first introduction, in the same month, was a matter of pure happenstance. I'd just ended a lengthy involvement with the Cellar Folk Club then running in Cecil Sharp House. Coincidentally, our house at the time was also home to two astounding if chaotic South African guitarists, Steve Newman & Tony Cox. But those scalliwags had no car. So, we all piled into our rickety Renault 5 and drove to The Greyhound in Weston Green.

Mine Host that night and for years to follow was the incomparable Brian Ravenhill who, with his then wife Jane, founded the club. Brian's style, energy and rapier wit as an MC were an instant hit and marked out the Ram as the 'Place to Be' on Friday nights. Strange now to recall that the shoebox-box sized club room at the Greyhound played host to some of the biggest names then on the scene, such as the Oyster Band. Another memory from 1983 is of a young stranger in a striped T-shirt who'd dropped in, guitar in hand, but seemingly a smidgen too late to place his name on the jam-packed floor singers' list. Hang about, I thought. I know that face. His name? Jez Lowe, or something like that. Mark my words - he owes us everything, that boy.

Suffice to say that Maggie and I were hooked from the outset and quickly became involved over ensuing years on the club's publicity side, assuming a greater role when Brian's business commitments dragged him away and left a gap to be filled.

If we missed the opening night, then there are happily a few others here tonight who did not. And we've not missed too many nights since. Down the years, you all - like us - will have witnessed at close quarters, some of the finest acoustic music on offer, whether traditional, instrumental or contemporary. So, it'd be invidious now to single out particular nights. I could... but I won't. Besides, space doesn't allow. Truth being that our fondest Ram memories are all bound up far more now in the fun and laughter of Friday nights; of the enduring friendships many of us have formed here (I sometimes think we should have appointed our own Registrar of Births, Marriages and, sad to say, occasional Deaths); and, most of all, of the truly tremendous support which we and our unsung fellow organisers have enjoyed from loyal audiences supporting live music. That's what makes this place special for us and our own continuing involvement a privilege.

Humble thanks. Here's to the next thirty years!

Bob Wood

¹ The club only took this as its name in September 1987 on its move to The Foley Arms. A Young's pub, the company logo was...you got it...the iconic ram. The late Sir John Young, a true gent, was tremendously supportive of the club's presence at the Foley. Let the record state that, on leaving, the Brewery donated in December 2008 the sum of £1000 to help with start-up costs here at the Old Cranleighan.

In The Beginning

any Light-Ales ago, at the dawn of Drinking-Up Time, early Ram Man finally pulled himself erect from the primeval soup that was the previous night's Watney's. Full of remorse he saw the error of his ways and espied the golden goodness of the Real Ale of Youngs. T'was born of the spirit of the Ram God and imbued with its virtue and virility, so he drank with relish and it was good. Empowered thus, Ram Man discovered that his regaled tales of daring-do and brave deeds of yesteryore were better applauded in the form of lilting song. And in the courtship of fair maidens, t'was also true. The Ballad was born, and the fair maidens wailed with joy (or so he thought) as he serenaded them.

Whilst idly twanging the string of his leaned-on longbow, he noticed that the beat suited the song and so came the guitar (and some have kept that same sound, 'tis true to say). And his kinsmen put fingers to ear "for better to hear the sound" (or so they said). And he likewise did the same, as did many who followed, and each line of each song was begun with the sheep cry "Neeaarghh"! Ram Man clad himself with a woolly jumper with beard to match and The Tradition was born. And the Ram God was pleased and he declared Friday to be Ramday. So it was then and so it is now, although our musical prowess has evolved with the years (or so we think)

..... all under the ever-watchful gaze of our magnificent Ram

Some quotes...

"The Ram Club itself is in what looks like a village hall at the back of the Foley Arms pub in Claygate. It's been running for over 20 years and immediately I felt the warmth and generosity of the venue. Many venues are cold smoky rooms above or below pubs rented out by the landlord but this was the antithesis of those types of places. A shrine to folk music – with classic posters of the past two decades adorning the walls and a feeling that it's been created to celebrate great music. The welcome to the club was also hearty and generous..." (A.S. 2004)

"It is an excellent venue, an example to other folk clubs. At the moment folk clubs are struggling to attract people. They seem to have acquired the label of being dark and dingy, but the Ram is vibrant. When you go in there you realise that there is a buzz about the place, the people really like being there and the organisers make you very welcome"- Robin Laing

"On September 21st 2001 I arrived at the Ram folk club Claygate. I was early and found myself alone in what appeared to be a scout hut. This was my first solo gig in years and my heart sank. Here came one of those 'what the hell am I doing?' moments. I had no idea if anyone would come. Or like what I did. By the end of the evening I was a very happy man. I had played pretty well, the room (hut!) was full, the bookers couldn't have been kinder and the punters seemed to get it. This was a turning point for me"
- Boo Hewerdine

"In my humble opinion Folk Clubs don't come any better than the Ram Club. It's a great treat to be asked back." Liz Simcock

"I think, therefore I Ram – the best club in the Universe!" Benny Gallagher

"Simply superb... really special evening for us"
